Our Representative has at length been brought to the common altar himself, by vote to the slave interest which we most sincerely regret but what was expected On Monday the 27th ult Mr Putnam of New York offered a resolution for excluding slavery from territory acquired from Mexico, and upon this resolution the Whigs of the free States voted in a solid body with the Whigs from Delaware a nominal Slave State in favor of Freedom

The full wing advice of Mrs Adams to her son has often been published, and will bear to be often repeated, it has new interest at this time on account of the recent death of that son under circumstances which arrest the attention of the civilized world We feel a particular interest in giving it a place in our columns to day in order to furnish a copy honorably to one who was disposed to obtain it otherwise by cutting it from one of our Reading Room papers

Mr. Adams' Early Lessons

John Quincy Adams in early life, received lessons in moral and religious duties from his parents, which were never effaced from his mind His excellent mother, in 1778, wrote to him these words "Great learning and superior abilities should you ever possess them, will be of little value and of no estimation, unless virtue honor, integrity, and truth, are cherished by you Adhere to the rules and principles early instilled in your mind, and remember that you are responsible to your God Dear as you are to me I would much rather that you would find a grave in the ocean which you have crossed, than to see you an immoral, graceless child In the last conversation Mr Adams expressed his astonishment at the insensibility of those holding public stations to the great truths of Christianity, and the indifference with which they viewed the worship of the high God and the institutions of religion

THE HORTICULTURIST AND JOURNAL OF RURAL ART AND RURAL TASTE March 1848.

This the oldest work in our country on the subject of fruits. It is edited by A J Downing Esq. whose works on Fruit have been adopted by the leading Horticultural Societies in the country as their standard American authority

The number is particularly rich. Its leading article is a chapter on school houses, in which the editor eloquently urges attention to the influence of external objects upon the mind, and to the means of full development and cultivation of human nature, the senses, the intellect and the affections It contains the list of choice fruits for the North which have been appointed by our pomological societies, from Col Henry Little of the city of the subject of

Portsmouth article of the greatest practical value, Gardening is one upon specific manures for fruit trees—giving exact and practical instructions for preparing the appropriate food and for feeding the varieties of fruit trees

The price of this monthly publication is $3 00 a year It is beautifully printed with fine illustrations, and is published by Luther Tucker Esq at Albany N Y

The agent for the city is Col Henry Little

The Murder of Capt. Smith of the Schr. Atlantic, of Bangor.

We are permitted to publish the following letter explaining the circumstances connected with the murder aboard schooner Atlantic, and the death of the captain—[" at

Consulate of the U S of America, }
Port Louis Dec 25th, 1847 }

Sir—On Saturday the 18th day of the present month at Jacotty, the Norwegian schooner Atlantic of Bangor 448 tons burthen, belonging to Lunt, Lord Jewett & Smith, master was boarded by the Custo House officer on board the vessel for the port of Wilmington N C and by Jedediah the next morning at the wharf Or Tuesday afternoon the 18th inst the said Jedediah got under way in the vessel and dropped down the river to the entrance of the harbor about 4 o'clock P M, making fast to a mooring buoy

The pilot who brought the vessel to anchor, reports that the captain was then living, although wounded, the cook having cut off with the axe the captain's right arm at the wrist Capt Smith died at about 10 o'clock P M, when he died, and his body was immediately sealed up in a zinc coffin, with intention to be shipped on board schr Atlantic, to be carried home to Portsmouth for burial From all the examinations which I have been able to make of the circumstances of the tragedy on board, and from the depositions ascertained, it appears that on the evening of the same day on which she sailed from this port namely, on Sunday the 16th inst the said Atlantic lay at anchor sheltered head winds, anchored about 12 miles to the leeward of this port, and the weather remaining unfavorable, the schooner was still at anchor on Tuesday the 18th inst —and about 6 o'clock A M of that day, the captain Joseph A Smith, seated on a block on the starboard side of the deck near part a little abaft the foremast, with his back to the galley, was splicing the foretall

Jedediah Arrington, a seaman and brother to the captain, was standing abreast of the foremast, with his head down, mourning the end of the foretall The mate, John Harding Smith, was at work splicing the fall into the topsail on the fore yard, on a temporary stage placed over the spot where the captain was splicing Enoch Chase a seaman was up on the foretop, having come down the rigging William Hall a seaman was walking in the starboard fore rigging The position of the cook, Geo Webster is not stated in any of the declarations. Such being the positions and occupations of the captain and crew, a blow and a cry out from the captain was heard when the cook was seen striking down with an axe on the head, by which blow the captain was felled to the deck Leaving the captain the cook attacked his brother Jedediah A Smith, who escaped the blow of the axe by jumping under it and seizing the cook who seized him by the throat

When the mate heard the cry of the captain he started to jump down to assist him but hearing a noise and jumped down on the stage behind him he threw it to look round and saw the seaman Wm Hall coming at him with a hatchet raised to strike him The mate sprung at him and caught the hatchet very from him in doing which Hall was thrown down from off the stage on to the deck, when the mate pursuing him, he ran to the bow and jumped overboard The mate then turned towards the cook when the latter aimed a pistol at him but missed him,—the mate then advancing towards the cook, the latter drew a second pistol from his shirt bosom, and the mate closing, he fired it at the captain which he had previously wounded with the axe, and shot him dead

Important to Parents.

WISTAR'S

CANADIAN VERMIFUGE!

A CERTAIN REMEDY FOR WORMS.

THESE are facts of the greatest importance to parents, as they are the cause of more than one-half the sickness and mortality among children. Worms are sometimes the most fatal disease to children, especially those from two to five years of age, and scarcely deserve the name of disease which is not attended with worms. Many children would not be sick if they could be relieved of worms. Some of the symptoms are as follows: Unusual appetite, sometimes voracious, sometimes variable, sometimes none at all; flushed cheeks, pale countenance, sometimes a fever, sometimes a chill, sometimes a cough, sometimes a headache, sometimes a pain in the stomach, sometimes a diarrhœa, sometimes costiveness, sometimes a tenderness of the bowels, sometimes a pain in the bowels, sometimes a pain in the back, sometimes a pain in the limbs, sometimes a pain in the joints, sometimes a pain in the head, sometimes a pain in the ear, sometimes a pain in the eye, sometimes a pain in the nose, sometimes a pain in the mouth, sometimes a pain in the throat, sometimes a pain in the chest, sometimes a pain in the heart, sometimes a pain in the lungs, sometimes a pain in the liver, sometimes a pain in the kidneys, sometimes a pain in the bladder, sometimes a pain in the genital organs, sometimes a pain in the anus, sometimes a pain in the thighs, sometimes a pain in the knees, sometimes a pain in the ankles, sometimes a pain in the feet, sometimes a pain in the toes, sometimes a pain in the fingers, sometimes a pain in the arms, sometimes a pain in the shoulders, sometimes a pain in the neck, sometimes a pain in the face, sometimes a pain in the eyes, sometimes a pain in the ears
